From the President:

Dear Members:

In November our topic is project management. More specifically author Colleen Garton will be presenting "Communications Excellence". Project management is a very important part of successful projects and should not be overlooked when planning, organizing and implementing a project. Colleen has authored several books including "Fundamentals of Technology Project Management 2nd Edition" published by MCPress.

The meeting will be provided in webinar format so you'll be able to attend onsite at Eaton Corporation or remotely through GoToMeeting. For those that attend the meeting on site we will provide a copy of Colleen's book to the first 10 attendees. We're excited about the topic and also to have Colleen presenting.

A special thanks to Maxava for providing our group with a grant for the 2015/2016 year. The grant will help in funding group activities and goes a far way to helping continue to bring current and world class education to our local members.

We look forward to seeing you at the October and November user group meetings.

Regards,

Laura
